

Professional Licensure for certification Programs

Hannibal-LaGrange University (HLGU) offers courses in teacher education and principalship that can be used for certification as a teacher in the state of Missouri. Our coursework may be accepted in other states for their teacher certification requirements.

HLGU is happy to provide prospective and current students with licensure/certification requirements for other states.

HLGU cannot guarantee that our coursework and testing requirements will be the same as other states. Additional coursework and testing may be required. Please refer to the list of states below to find out specific information for each state.

Most states require an application fee and fingerprinting.

The information below is updated annually so requirements may be different than what is noted here. Please check individual state websites for accurate information.
